

Physicians Toxicology COVID-19 Update

Physicians Toxicology would like to express how grateful we are to our clients and industry partners for their hard work, dedication, and willingness to be on the front lines as we face the complex challenges of COVID-19. We want to assure you that our laboratories will remain open and fully operational so that you may continue to provide vital health services to your communities.

Physicians Toxicology is committed to keeping our employees, our clients, your patients, and our communities as safe and healthy as possible. We are following the guidance of the CDC, U.S. Department, World Health Organization, and our State Department to ensure safety during the pandemic. Because we routinely work with biological specimens, we are trained in the necessary precautions required to reduce risks associated with the COVID-19 threat.

We have taken the crucial measures to protect the health and well-being of our employees and clients by restricting our laboratory facilities to essential personnel only, enhancing our sanitation and disinfection protocols, implementing remote workforce programs, and urging our employees to follow the CDC's recommended safety practices both on campus and at home.

Physicians Toxicology support will remain available to you through your local Sales Representative, Customer Service, the Billing Department, and our Toxicologist. As we partner with you and our greater community to meet known and unknown challenges, we are committed to keeping the channels of communication open and doing all we reasonably can to ensure the health, safety, and well-being of our community.
